The design is based on a continuation of the multifaceted canvas with respect to its urban development of the Herdecke town structure. The new construction areas are based on the current civic situation, but set new urban and innovative accents. The concept with its buoyant shape looks like an artistic composition. The new design of the old Mill Ditch tied in with history represents a design attraction for developing an open space. This newly established watercourse works as a focal point in its function and urban arrangement and represents the backbone of the design at the same time.
