The MAYBACH QUARTIERE, a residential construction project in Feuerbach, a district of Stuttgart, will include about 120 high-quality apartments having various sizes and concepts. These accommodations are conceived to attract families with children, dual-income households, as well as singles.

To appeal to this target group, spaces, which maximize privacy for the users, are created. Hedges and walls separate the private yard from the shared open space, where a large children's playground with a wooden play tower is also to be found.
