The outdoor facilities of the Museum of Abstract Art have been designed to a high standard. The entrance area facing Reinhardstrasse and Wilhelmsstrasse can be reached via a flight of steps or a ramp suitable for the disabled and, thanks to its roofing, offers an inviting and spacious location. The light-colored natural stone slabs in the outdoor area with their elegant character can also be found in the interior. Perennials, grasses and flat shrubs are planted at different heights along the street area, framed by natural stone bands. The rear area of the museum includes access control and offers parking spaces for employees as well as space for deliveries and the fire department.

Inside the museum, visitors are welcomed by an inner courtyard, a central patio that looks like a work of art in its own right. Here, white gravel contrasts with bands of black natural stone and forms the focal point together with the decorative solitary tree and a sculpture. A raised bed in the outdoor area provides a place for employees to sit during breaks. The restaurant terrace is adjacent to the entrance area.
